IT'S WILLIAM FAT-NER

'Star Trek' legend packing on pounds

LIKE the universe, former "Star Trek" star William Shatner's waist continues to expand.

The 82-year-old actor's belly has grown at warp speed, and concerned pals fear he's running out of time to get his weight under control.

"Bill desperately needs to lose a few pounds," a source close to the actor told The ENQUIRER.

"He just can't seem to burn off the belly fat. He doesn't work out as much as he used to...and he loves to eat."

On Sept. 26, The ENQUIRER caught "Captain Kirk" with a very FULL belly after he stuffed his face at E. Baldi Italian restaurant in Beverly Hills (at right). And a few days later he was snapped at a Los Angeles party wolfing down enough fattening food to fill a black hole.

Shatner has made attempts to get in shape. In fact, in 2009 he told a reporter that his goal was six-pack abs and confessed: "I've got a twelve-pack."

But a source said: "It's more like a keg!"

IN 2010, THE ENQUIRER REPORTED that the 5-foot-8 actor had ballooned to a dangerous 245 pounds – and friends feared he was putting his life in jeopardy.

Shatner claimed he wasn't overweight – just extra muscular.

Betty White also joked about his girth during a 2006 Comedy Central roast of Shatner, quipping: "Darling, FILL ME UP, SCOTTY!

you were supposed to explore the galaxy, not fill it."

Despite the kidding, one source warned: "At his age, Bill really needs to take the weight off. He could have a heart attack."

This JUST IN!

MARTHA STEWART has packed on the pounds again, and the vain domestic diva is taking desperate measures to hide the flab on TV and in photos and public appearances.

The 72-year-old, Emmy-winning entrepreneur has resorted to using "belly blockers" – clever props, including coats, plates and even lamps – to conceal her weight gain. And any staffers who let an unflattering photo slip through catch holy hell, a source says.

"Martha's driving her people crazy with her insistence they find new ways to hide her fat belly," the source said.

"SHE STILL SEES HERSELF AS a stunning blonde ingenue. So when that damn belly of hers shows up in photos, her first reaction is to scream her head off at the poor lackey who has the unpleasant task of presenting the pictures.

In her mind, she's still a knockout – but the camera doesn't lie"

"Her assistants, production crew and hair-and-makeup people have a running bet over how many seconds it will take for Martha to explode after someone shows her the latest prints from her most recent shoot. That person is a dead duck!"

Ironically, in her new book "Living the Good Long Life," the legendary American tastemaker shares her practical tips for a healthy lifestyle – including how to stay physically fit.

One former employee cracked: "Martha should follow her own tips! Her attitude is do as I say,

MADDOX GETS A SIX-PACK

Pitt in "Fight Club"

HEY, Hollywood, there's a new kid in town – and his name is Maddox Jolie-Pitt!

A source says the 12-year-old adopted son of Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt is obsessed with bulking up, and dreams of following in his macho movie-star dad's footsteps.

"For a kid who's not yet a teenager, Maddox is really mature," said an insider. "Maybe traveling the world with his folks is what's made him so savvy, but he acts more like 16 than 12."

THE MINI A-LISTER IDOLIZES the late martial arts star Bruce Lee and recently started practicing Krav Maga, Israeli fight training, in a bid to develop six-pack abs. "About a year ago, Maddox started working out in earnest, doing martial arts, playing sports and lifting weights," said the source. "He wants to be in movies and sees himself as a cross between his dad and Bruce Lee."

The Cambodian-born youngster decided to dye his hair blonde earlier this year, and he dresses like he's auditioning for the cover of "GQ" in "cool" hats, sunglasses and clothes.

He'll stand in front of a mirror for hours, flexing his muscles and checking out his image, and his macho attitude has impressed at least one beautiful babe – his mom.

"Angie gets a kick out of how Maddox loves fast cars, sports, and girls," said the source.

"His younger brother Pax likes to kick a soccer ball around with him, but he's not into working out or getting girls to notice him...at least not yet!"

BODIES EXPOSED

not as I do!” The 5-foot-9 former model has fought the battle of the bulge for years as her weight seesawed between an estimated 157 and 212 pounds.

Despite her expanding gut, Martha was recently spotted loading up her plate with food at a party thrown by record mogul Clive Davis.

“Most people were holding back, but not Martha,” said the insider. The diva herself has admitted: “I love dessert.” Sources say her staff knows they must hide her bulges with props or use computer software to alter the image in photos.

BUT RECENTLY ALL HELL BROKE LOOSE after the “Martha Stewart Living” star completed some production work for Macy’s and was photographed with executives and designers.

“There was no plate or suitcase or purse to stick in front of her,” said the insider.

“It was all Martha and she looked as big as a house.”

Later, when she saw prints of the pictures, she reportedly threw a fit, fuming: “Who the hell edits this stuff! I TOLD you no more belly shots! Don’t put me in this position again. Ever!”

The problem is particularly difficult because Martha tends to carry her weight in her belly, said the insider, adding: “In her mind, she’s still a knockout – but the camera doesn’t lie.”

Ashley and Dario Franchitti in happier times

HORRIFIC CRASH REUNITES ASHLEY & DARIO

Injured race car champ COMFORTED BY ESTRANGED WIFE

ASHLEY JUDD raced back to estranged hubby Dario Franchitti's side after the three-time Indianapolis 500 winner was seriously injured in a horrific crash.

Now friends believe the near-tragedy may bring the couple back together for good!

Dario suffered two broken vertebrae, a fractured right ankle and a concussion after his car went airborne into protective fencing following a frightening collision at the Houston Grand Prix on Oct. 6.

Ashley, who called it quits with Dario in January after 11 years of marriage, immediately took to her Twitter page to thank fans for their prayers.

"I HAVE ONLY CLOTHES ON MY BACK & the dogs but that's all that we need & we are on our way," she wrote.

A source close to "Missing" star Ashley, 45, told The ENQUIRER: "Something good has already come out of this terrible accident. It's brought Dario and Ashley closer together again and on the path to patching things up."

"They still love each other very much, and Ashley was very distraught when she heard about Dario's crash. She had tears in her eyes and immediately began praying to God he would pull through."

As The ENQUIRER reported in our Feb. 18 issue, the couple's marriage unraveled over her endless feuds with superstar mom Naomi and big sis Wynonna.

But the final straw came when the handsome Scotsman begged Ashley to go to marriage counseling and, instead, she joined Naomi and Wynonna for family counseling with a life coach.

"Ashley figured that she and Dario were solid and everything would be OK if she sorted out her feelings toward her mother and sister," said the source. "Instead, the family counseling ended up tearing Dario and Ashley apart."

But pals say the couple now has a second shot at love as Ashley helps Dario back to health.

"Every dark cloud has a silver lining," the source added. "And for Ashley and Dario, this horrible accident is bringing them back together."

Owen met Caroline shortly after his 2007 suicide attempt

TWO years after the birth of his first love child, Owen Wilson is at it again – and this time the baby mama is a ma

The 44-year-old "Wedding Crashers" star is secretly preparing for the January birth of his child with 41-year-old Swedish-born fitness trainer Caroline Lindqvist, who's currently in the middle of a divorce from Beverly Hills plastic surgeon Dr. Ritu Chopra and has reportedly been separated from her husband for more than a year.

Owen already has a 2-year-old son, Robert, with former girlfriend Jade Duell.

The screen star met Caroline shortly after his 2007 suicide attempt, which was sparked by his split from Kate Hudson. At that point, he hired Caroline – who currently works in real estate in Malibu – to be his personal trainer.

Their friendship evolved into regular sexual romps, says a family friend, and both are reportedly thrilled that they're expecting a son together.

"Caroline broke the news to Owen this past May shortly after confirming that he was the father," said the friend. Although her representative emphasized that she was already separated from her husband, the friend said: "A few days later she filed for divorce from her husband.

"CAROLINE BEGGED HIM FOR A QUIET, hassle-free divorce, and he obliged.

"Neither has hired an attorney, and Caroline is going to walk away from the divorce with practically nothing. But she is going to score big time by having Owen's baby – she'll be set for life."

On Aug. 26, 2007, The ENQUIRER was the first to report that the "You, Me and Dupree" star was rushed to Saint John's Health Center in Santa Monica, Calif., after he took an overdose of prescription pills and slashed his wrists at his home. We revealed that he was despondent after seeing photos of Kate, who had dumped him, cuddling with a new boyfriend, comedian Dax Shepard.

Owen and Kate briefly rekindled their romance a few months later, but it didn't last. He went on to date a string of gorgeous women, and The ENQUIRER exclusively reported that Jade, a federal air marshal, was pregnant with his baby. She gave birth to their son on Jan. 14, 2011, at Owen's Maui estate. The two reportedly split up five months after the baby was born but remain on good terms.

Late last year, Owen bought Jade and little Robert a $1.4 million house in the Mar Vista area of Los Angeles, not far from his Santa Monica residence.

"Owen was dreading telling Jade about Caroline being pregnant because she can be a real spitfire when she gets angry," the friend said. "Jade was shocked, but she kept her cool, at least for now."

The one thing Jade has requested, says the source, is that Caroline not give birth at Owen's home in Hawaii.

"That's where Owen and Jade's son was born and she wants it to stay special just for them," explained the friend. "Owen is not sure what Caroline wants to do, but he'll support her decision, whatever it is.

"In any case, he's going to have to figure out how to keep the peace between these two women so he can continue to be a good dad."

BATMAN TO THE RESCUE!

Caped Crusader & Captain America
SAVE CAT FROM BLAZE

"Batman" and "Captain America" pose with some of their fans

“We happened to be in the right place at the right time”

It looked like a CAT-astrophe in the making when a kitty named Bob was caught in a horrific fire that swept through his family's home – but the fortunate feline was rescued by two caped crusaders!

By the time the local fire department in Milton, W. Va., reached the blaze, they discovered they'd been beaten to the scene by Captain America and Batman. Not only that, but Batman had already plucked Bob from the burning building.

"We just happened to be in the right place at the right time," said Batman, aka John Buckland.

Buckland explained that he and his colleague, Captain America aka Troy Marcum, were in costume to entertain and teach children at an American Legion Post event when they were alerted to a column of smoke shooting up from a nearby house.

"I knew what to do because I'm a former firefighter," said Buckland. "We battered our way through the front door and I crawled into the house on my hands and knees beneath the smoke. But I had to retreat because of the smoke. I told Captain America to get the biggest rock he could find and heave it through the window to try to clear some of the smoke out of the room."

BUCKLAND WAS THEN ABLE TO CRAWL BACK inside, and as he groped around he came into contact with "something furry," which he grabbed before heading back outside.

That "something furry" was a barely-breathing Bob. Buckland gave him mouth-to-mouth – and the kitty snapped right back to life.

"Batman did a great job," said Tom Cantaberry, who witnessed the hero in action. "He lived up to his reputation as a doer of good."

The amazing scene unfolded on Sept. 7 as Buckland, 43, and Marcum, 27, were performing for kids as members of Buckland's "Heroes 4 Higher" business.

"I set up my organization to provide positive entertainment for kids at birthday parties, malls, schools and hospitals," said Buckland.

"The idea is to reach kids when they are young to give them the motivation to avoid bullying, drugs and bad behavior, and instead try to improve their community by helping fellow students and neighbors.

"That day, while Captain America and I were visiting with the kids at the American Legion Post, one of the vets ran up to us and pointed to the fire shooting up from a nearby house."

Thankfully, the only critter – human or otherwise – at home when the fire broke out was Bob. And while his owners were extremely grateful for the firefighting "avengers," the cat was not quite as impressed.

"When I revived him and he saw a big bat in his face, he started hissing and swatting at me," said Buckland, chuckling. "Is that any way to thank

Eva's past hubbies Tyler Christopher and Tony Parker

SUPER-sexy Eva Longoria is desperately trying to land a man, but she keeps striking out.

Two failed marriages and a string of fizzled relationships have left the gorgeous Texan depressed about her love life. And at 38, she even seems to have given up her dream of becoming a mom, say sources.

ON THE EVE OF HER 2006 engagement to pro basketball player Tony Parker, the former "Desperate Housewives" star gushed that she was eager to become a mother, saying: "I want ten children and I can't wait." But in a recent interview, the actress did a complete about-face, declaring: "I'm not one of those women that's like, 'I must procreate.'"

The beauty feels "really beaten down by romance," a pal told The ENQUIRER, and she's still hurting from her 2011 divorce from Parker. A previous marriage to soap opera actor Tyler Christopher also went down in flames, and relationships with singer Eduardo Cruz and businessman Ernesto Arguello crashed and burned following her divorce from hoop star Parker.

"Eva wanted nothing more than to find the right guy and settle down," said a friend. "But she's been so unlucky in love, she doesn't know where to turn now."

MARIAH CAREY and Nick Cannon's marriage hit a rough patch after rumors began swirling that BOTH stars have been cheating, say sources. Now insiders fear the "America's Got Talent" host could go after his wife's $500 million fortune in a divorce!

On Sept. 12, Mariah, 44, was caught "flirting up a storm" with rapper Nas at his 40th birthday party. Sporting a sexy black dress and a sparkly sling on her right arm, eyewitnesses noticed that the "Always Be My Baby" singer was NOT wearing her wedding ring.

According to one published report, the two were whispering and giggling all night. The singer was also said to be very touchy-feely with the rapper.

A representative for Carey denied that there is trouble in the marriage.

BUT SOURCES SAY it wasn't the first time in recent months that Mariah's been seen without her sparkler.

Reports in June placed a ringless Mariah in an Atlanta recording studio with rapper Young Jeezy. The report went on to claim that Mariah had a "one-night stand" with Jeezy in 2008 when she featured him on her "Side Effects" track. Carey collaborated with Jeezy on "Side Effects" prior to her 2008 marriage to Cannon.

And she didn't appear to be wearing her ring back on June 2 when she took the stage with sexy singer Miguel to perform their duet, "#Beautiful," at a concert in New Jersey.

As The ENQUIRER previously reported, Nick, 33, was also jealous over the long hours Mariah spent helping pal Arsenio Hall plan the launch of his recently debuted talk show.

But Mariah isn't the only one facing cheating allegations. As we reported in 2011, she feared that her much-younger hubby was trying to hook up with then-27-year-old "AGT" competitor Lys Agnes.

At the time, sources said she was "feeling insecure" about the excess baby weight she was carrying after the April 2011 birth of the couple's twins, Mon-

She was "almost beside herself with worry that Nick would stray," revealed an insider. "I think she fears Nick's wandering eye — once a cheater, always a cheater — and she zeroed in on his infatuation with Lys."

More recently, on Aug. 20, Mariah surprised Nick during an episode of his MTV2 show, "Wild 'N Out." She walked onstage while he was flirting with one of the show's contestants and threatened to "shut all this (bleep) down" before he cut to a commercial break.

On Sept. 24, a gossip website ran a blind item that said that a former child star, comedian and now-rapper "is not only sleeping with his high-note-singing wife, but with his employees" — which has tongues wagging that it's referring to Mariah and Nick.

While Carrie put on a brave public face after the show, the source said she cried over the nasty comments and even turned on her husband. "Carrie took out her venom on her husband Mike, accusing him of not supporting her career and causing her to get nervous and trip up," said the source. "She's freaking out because she worries that with Mike giving her ultimatums about having a baby, their marriage could crumble."

Carrie is also said to be on edge about playing Julie Andrews' iconic role in the Dec. 5 live telecast of "The Sound of Music." And just days before the Emmy debacle, a popular blogger referred to her photo on a poster promoting the show as "creepy" with "freaky deaky eyes."

The source said: "Carrie is at her wits' end. Her friends think she needs to take a time-out and reassess her priorities. If not, she could be in danger of breaking down."

CLINT SPLURGES BIG ON BLONDE LOVER!

CLINT EASTWOOD isn't even divorced from his wife Dina and he's already show-ering her with gifts. On his much younger girlfriend – but outraged Dina is striking back.

The 83-year-old “Dirty Harry” star has moved Erica Fisher, 42, into his Los Angeles home. And a source says he's already treating her like his “Million Dollar Baby” – showering her with lavish gifts and inviting her to sample his wife's wardrobe.

Furthermore, he's hired her 20-year-old son Mason to be a production assistant on “Jersey Boys,” the movie based on the Broadway musical that he's directing.

“Dina is in a fury,” said a source close to Clint's wife of 17 years. “He's not only moved Erica into his L.A. home but also got Mason a job on the set – even though he has no experience whatsoever in movies.

“What's more, Clint just bought a brand-new silver Mercedes-Benz that Erica's driving around Hollywood. Dina said, ‘This is textbook mooching!’ It's like Erica has hit a Las Vegas jackpot. Clint has become her Sugar Daddy.”

A source says Dina fears that Erica is “a gold digger” who wants to cut the movie legend off from his family and snatch part of his $375 million estate. And even though Dina still doubts she can reconcile with Clint, she's so concerned that the blonde divorcee is trying to take control of her estranged husband she had her legal separation temporarily withdrawn, a source says.

New court papers filed with the Monterey (Calif.) Superior Court – obtained by The ENQUIRER – show that a petition for legal separation was filed Sept. 9, but then a request to dismiss that petition was filed later.

The ENQUIRER broke the story about how Eastwood, Dina, Erica and her ex-husband Scott Fisher engaged in a bizarre wife swap. Scott was Dina's high school boyfriend and a source says they started dating again after Dina caught Clint and Erica on their way to a hotel room in March.

Before hooking up with Clint, Erica had been “couch surfing” in Portland, Ore., said the source. “Now she's living in an exclusive Bel-Air mansion, where Jennifer Aniston is a neighbor.

“She has no job, no resources, no money. But almost every night Clint takes her out to fancy restaurants for expensive dinners. And Dina says that Erica's even gone through her closets at Clint's L.A. home after he told her to take whatever clothing she wants. Can you believe it – she's even wearing Dina's outfits!”

Dina and the rest of Eastwood's family are worried that if Clint somehow has an accident or goes senile, Erica could screw up the estate for his children.

Erica is so intent on destroying what's left of Clint's marriage that she allegedly instructed her two sons to comb the Internet and collect every “tweet,” video and post made by Dina.

“Erica had the posts put in a folder,” claimed the source, “and they were presented to Clint as evidence against Dina.”

CHELSEA CLINTON is desperate to save her shaky marriage – and sources say that’s the secret reason she plans to become a mom next year!

“We want, God willing, to start a family,” Chelsea recently proclaimed in a “Glamour” magazine interview.

“So we decided we were going to make 2014 the Year of the Baby.”

Bill and Hillary’s daughter said that starting a family with her husband Marc Mezvinsky became a top priority after her maternal grandmother, 92-year-old Dorothy Rodham, passed away in 2011.

But sources tell The ENQUIRER that there’s more behind 33-year-old Chelsea’s decision to have a baby with investment banker Mezvinsky, 35.

“FOR CHELSEA, IT’S A LAST-DITCH attempt to save her marriage,” said a source.

“Bill and Hillary have continually distanced themselves from Marc, and Chelsea thinks that fathering their grandchild would bring Marc closer to them.”

Bill’s been unhappy with his son-in-law ever since Marc quit his Wall Street job just six months after marrying Chelsea in July 2010 to live the life of a ski bum in Wyoming for awhile.

At Bill’s 65th birthday bash in 2011, the Clintons snubbed Marc by seating him behind the rest of the family, causing him to grouse about feeling like a “second-class citizen.”

Bill cold-shouldered Marc again earlier this year by failing to include him on a trip to Africa with Chelsea and several celebrity friends.

As The ENQUIRER reported, insiders also said Marc was “deliberately” not invited to spend time with the Clintons when they rented an $11 million estate in the Hamptons in late August.

Now, Marc is reportedly concerned over Bill tapping one of Chelsea’s closest pals, Eric Braverman, for the family’s charitable organization, The Clinton Foundation.

Chelsea worked closely with Eric at the consulting firm McKinsey & Company and constantly gushed about him to her parents, said the source.

“While there’s nothing romantic going on between them, Chelsea has something of a ‘crush’ on Eric,” said an insider. “He reminds her of her college boyfriend Ian Klaus, who was a Rhodes Scholar and had a great relationship with her dad.”

“When the family recently decided to retool the Clinton Foundation, Chelsea suggested Eric would make a great hire – and Bill was so impressed that he made Eric CEO. Chelsea is now vice-chairman of the foundation’s board, so she sees Eric every day.”

As The ENQUIRER has reported, the former first daughter has encountered problems trying to get pregnant in the past and even considered adopting a child from Africa if she failed to conceive.

“Now that Chelsea has formally announced her intention to have a child in the next year,” said the insider, “she’s hoping the tension between Marc and her parents will ease, and she can get their marriage back on track.”

Hatfields & McCoys FEUDING OVER BOOZE!

The extensive cast of the History Channel reality series, "Hatfields & McCoys: White Lightning"

AMERICA's infamous feuding families, the Hatfields and the McCoys, are at it again – and this time it's over moonshine!

On the History Channel's recent series "Hatfields & McCoys: White Lightning," rival factions of the families engaged in new hostilities over legally produced West Virginia moonshine. Now The ENQUIRER has gone behind the scenes – and learned the ugly tussle could end up in court.

"This is the Hatfield and McCoy family feud all over again," attorney Gregory Chiertas, who represents one group, told The ENQUIRER.

"But instead of people shooting at each other, it's gone from a war of bullets to a war of words."

On one side is the Hatfield & McCoy Alliance. That's the group affiliated with the TV show, and they plan to operate a still that produces a moonshine called The Legendary Hatfield & McCoy Family Brand.

MEANWHILE, THE OTHER GROUP, PRIMARILY Hatfields, is cranking up plans to develop Hatfield & McCoy Moonshine, the Drink of Devil Anse Hatfield. It's named after the family patriarch who led one faction in the fabled feud that raged on the West Virginia/Kentucky border in the 1800s.

Attorney Chiertas represents the Drink of Devil Anse Hatfield faction, and he disputes claims made on the TV show that water for The Legendary Hatfield & McCoy Family Brand would come from the ancestral well of Devil Anse Hatfield.

"Most of the 'Legendary' moonshine brand would be produced in Missouri, with just a small distillery in West Virginia so they can claim it's authentic," Chiertas told The ENQUIRER. In contrast, he says the Devil Anse moonshine would be produced in small batches in Gilbert, W.Va., "four miles from the Hatfield family cemetery and the grave of Devil Anse."

Ironically, although several companies now produce legal moonshine, the Hatfield and McCoy companies have yet to brew a single drop.

"Neither is in production yet," Chiertas confirmed. "Even the 'moonshine' that family members swill out of mason jars on the show is just water."

"The TV show was created to promote a product. It's a giant advertisement for a moonshine company they intend to develop, but haven't yet created."

The History Channel reality show featured colorful characters from each clan, including bewhiskered Scotty May Hatfield, Mark Hatfield and Mickey McCoy, mountain hotties Missy Hatfield and Tammy and Courtney McCoy, the pugnacious Jim McCoy and the ambitious John T. Hatfield, along with the feisty elder females of both families, Billie Hatfield and Irene "Goldie" McCoy.

MOONSHINE SPARKS NEW RIFT between warring families

Now, the real-life battle is likely to land in court because the "Legendary" side is accusing the "Drink of the Devil" side of trademark infringement for using the Hatfield and McCoy names, noted Chiertas.

"We just want to be left alone, but the other side views us as a threat," he added.

"We believe white whiskey is an emerging market and there's plenty of room for everybody."

Breakthrough technology converts phone calls to captions.

New amplified phone lets you hear AND see the conversation.

The Captioning Telephone converts phone conversations to easy-to-read captions for individuals with hearing loss.

Do you get discouraged when you hear your telephone ring? Do you avoid using your phone because hearing difficulties make it hard to understand the person on the other end of the line? For many Americans the telephone conversation – once an important part of everyday life – has become a thing of the past. Because they can't understand what is said to them on the phone, they're often cut off from friends, family, doctors and caregivers. Now, thanks to innovative technology there is finally a better way.

A simple idea... made possible with sophisticated technology. If you have trouble understanding a call, the Captioning Telephone can change your life. During a phone call the words spoken to you appear on the phone's screen – similar to closed captioning on TV. So when you make or receive a call, the words spoken to you are not only amplified by the phone, but scroll across the phone so you can listen while reading everything that's said to you. The captioning function can be turned on as needed. Each call is routed through a call center, where computer technology – aided by a live representative – generates immediate voice-to-text translations. The captioning is real-time, accurate and readable. Your conversation is private and the captioning service doesn't cost you a penny – all you need is a high-speed Internet connection from any Internet provider and a standard phone line. Callers do not need special equipment or a captioning phone in order to speak with you.

Finally... a phone you can use again.

The Captioning Telephone is also packed with features to help make phone calls easier. The keypad has large, easy to use buttons. You get adjustable volume amplification along with the ability to save captions for review later. It even has an answering machine that provides you with the captions of each message.

SEE what you've been missing!

See for yourself with our exclusive home trial. Try the Captioning Telephone in your own home and if you are not completely amazed, simply return it within 30-days for a refund of the product purchase price. It even comes with a 5-year warranty.

HEIGL DITCHES MEDDLING MOTHER

Nancy Heigl may get to keep her manager title – in name only

'Grey's' beauty blames 'momager' for diva reputation

KATHERINE HEIGL is distancing herself from her meddling mom in a desperate attempt to save her Hollywood career, says an insider.

The former "Grey's Anatomy" star landed the lead role in a yet-unnamed NBC drama after a string of movie flops and bad press – but she's so worried about her diva reputation that she banned her high-powered "momager" Nancy from the set.

"Katherine knows her new TV show is her last chance to prove she's not too difficult to employ," revealed a close source. "She's very concerned that her career, so she told her it would be best if she kept her distance from the production."

"KATHERINE IS TELLING PALS she's seriously considering ditching her mom and hiring new management.

"But she's so scared of incurring Nancy's legendary wrath that she'd still let her keep her manager title in name only."

As The ENQUIRER recently reported, the 34-year-old Emmy winner damaged her once-flourishing career with outrageous demands and difficult behavior.

The beauty first made waves in 2007 when she threatened to quit "Grey's Anatomy" while negotiating a pay raise. She eventually left in a snit for big-buck film roles.

But a string of duds followed, and the star was reduced to doing sleep-aid TV commercials.

Now thrilled by the opportunity to play a CIA analyst on TV, Heigl is apparently taking no chances that her mom will screw things up for her.

Said the source: "Katherine is adamant that her mom make herself scarce so she can pour on the charm and stay in the network's good graces."

Meanwhile, a rep for Heigl denied she is distancing herself from her mother.

The ENQUIRER reported on Katherine's diva demands in our Sept. 30 issue

PHYLICIA RASHAD is an over-the-top showbiz mom!icon," the insider said. "She's all about the work and very, very talented."

The 65-year-old "Cosby Show" star has been relentless in her attempts to turn her beautiful daughter Condola into a Hollywood megastar, a source says.

"Phylicia's become obsessed with her daughter's future – and she won't rest until Condola brings home an Oscar," an insider told The ENQUIRER. "She constantly nags her about trying out for big-budget film roles and drills her on upcoming movie productions and casting news."

"Phylicia has driven a terrible wedge in their relationship because of her all-consuming obsession with Condola making it big."

GORGEOUS CONDOLA, 26, IS garnering critical acclaim co-starring with Orlando Bloom on Broadway in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet." But that doesn't seem to be enough for her demanding mom, who played Clair Huxtable on "The Cosby Show."

"Phylicia continually warns her not to get comfortable on Broadway because it's too far away from the Hollywood action," continued the insider.

Condola's dad is former NFL star and sportscaster Ahmad Rashad, whom Phylicia divorced in 2001. But despite her family tree, the insider says Condola never used her parents' fame to get ahead. "You'd never know her mother was a mom!icon," the insider said. "She's all about the work and very, very talented."

Condola with Orlando Bloom in "Romeo and Juliet"

In her short career, Condola's already been nominated for two Tony Awards, has had a recurring role on NBC's "Smash" and starred opposite Queen Latifah in last year's TV remake of "Steel Magnolias."

"Condola definitely has the chops to become a big star," said the source. "But her mom just won't stop pushing." According to the insider, Phylicia got so pushy on the set of "Romeo and Juliet" that Condola banned her from backstage. She's also limited her overbearing mom to one phone call a day. "Phylicia means well, but she's obsessed," the insider added. "She won't stop until Condola is the queen of Hollywood."

Chicago Doctor Invents Affordable Hearing Aid Outperforms Many Higher Priced Hearing Aids

Reported by J. Page

CHICAGO: A local board-certified Ear, Nose, Throat (ENT) physician, Dr. Babu Cherukuri, has just shaken up the hearing aid industry with the invention of a medical-grade, affordable hearing aid. This revolutionary hearing aid is designed to help millions of people with hearing loss who cannot afford—or do not wish to pay—the much higher cost of traditional hearing aids.

"Perhaps the best quality-to-price ratio in the hearing aid industry" – Dr. Babu, M.D.
Board-Certified ENT Physician

Dr. Cherukuri knew that untreated hearing loss could lead to depression, social isolation, anxiety, and symptoms consistent with Alzheimer's dementia. He could not understand why the cost for hearing aids was so high when the prices on so many consumer electronics like TVs, DVD players, cell phones and digital cameras had fallen.

Since Medicare and most private insurance do not cover the costs of hearing aids, which traditionally run between $2,000-$6,000 for a pair, many of the doctor's patients could not afford the expense. Dr. Cherukuri's goal was to find a reasonable solution that would help with the most common types of hearing loss at an affordable price, not unlike the "one-size-fits-most" reading glasses available at drug stores.

He evaluated numerous hearing devices and sound amplifiers, including those seen on television. Without fail, almost all of these were found to amplify bass/low frequencies (below 1000 Hz) and not useful in amplifying the frequencies related to the human voice.

Inspiration From a Surprising Source

The doctor's inspiration to defeat the powers-that-be that kept inexpensive hearing aids out of the hands of the public actually came from a new cell phone he

® for about $200 that could do all sorts of things, I could create a hearing aid at a similar price."

Affordable Hearing Aid With Superb Performance

The high cost of hearing aids is a result of layers of middlemen and expensive unnecessary features. Dr. Cherukuri concluded that it would be possible to develop a medical grade hearing aid without sacrificing the difference in sound quality. The result is the MDHearingAid PRO ®, starting well under $200. It has been declared to be the best low-cost hearing aid that amplifies the range of sounds associated with the human voice without overly amplifying background noise.

Tested By Leading Doctors and Audiologists

The MDHearingAid PRO® has been rigorously tested by leading ENT physicians and audiologists who have unanimously agreed that the sound quality and output in many cases exceeds more expensive hearing aids.

Doctors and patients agree: "BEST QUALITY SOUND" "LOWEST AFFORDABLE PRICE"

Dirty Harry TAMED AT LAST!

Harry in London with blonde beauty Cressida Bonas

Cressida is new royal bride

Party-loving prince TYING THE KNOT

PRINCE HARRY's royal hijinks may soon be coming to an end – he's getting engaged!

The redheaded wild child of Princess Diana has finally been tamed by 24-year-old blonde beauty Cressida Bonas.

Reports say Harry, who turned 29 last month, will likely walk down the aisle next year – and the royal family couldn't be more thrilled. While “Cressie” is considered to be a “free spirit” like Harry, a source says the family believes Harry will leave his hard-partying lifestyle behind him once he takes a bride.

The handsome prince has already showed signs of slowing down, such as how he's warmed to his new role as “uncle” to George, the heir to the throne born to Prince William and his wife Kate Middleton on July 22.

WHILE IT DOES NOT APPEAR to be an official engagement at this point, a royal insider says that Harry and Cressie talked marriage while watching a fireworks display during a recent trip to Australia.

“Cressie is the girl who has finally tamed the prince,” the insider declared. “He's head over heels in love with her, and despite her bohemian lifestyle, she really is mature enough to keep Harry grounded. She'll make a delightful wife for Harry and will be a great mom when they decide to have kids.”

For some time, it looked like a long-term royal romance might not be in the cards for the couple. The bubbly blonde, a dancer who trained at London's Trinity Laban Conservatoire, was devastated when Harry was photographed playing strip pool with a Vegas party girl in August 2012.

But the prince wasn't ready to let Cressie go. He kept in close touch with her after he was dispatched on a four-month military service trip to Afghanistan last November. When he returned, their romance blossomed. And that's when, according to friends, Harry started to talk about marriage.

“He's head over heels in love”

The rebel prince has caused quite a bit of controversy over the years. He was caught smoking marijuana and took part in more than his fair share of underage drinking. He was also photographed wearing a Nazi uniform with a swastika armband at a party in 2005. But insiders say he's promised Cressida he'll stay out of trouble. Although Harry has been linked to a bevy of blondes, his only other serious relationship has been with Zimbabwe-born Chelsy Davy. They split up for good in 2011 after a seven-year on-again/off-again romance.

While Cressie isn't wearing a ring yet, the insider maintains that she'll be sporting a beautiful bauble before long.

“Harry is ready to settle down,” the insider added. “He's ready to be a good husband and father.”

Americans from coast to coast were shocked when news broke that a 22-year-old bride was accused of coldheartedly pushing her husband of just eight days off a sheer cliff.

And now, an ENQUIRER investigation can reveal the startling reason why Jordan Linn Graham allegedly snapped and sent her 25-year-old husband Cody Johnson hurtling to his death in Montana's Glacier National Park.

ON OCT. 3, A GRAND JURY charged Jordan with murder in the brutal slaying of the young factory worker. And a source close to the investigation told The ENQUIRER: "One of the police theories is that the new bride 'snapped' after her husband figured out she had lied about being in love with him. She was only in love with the idea of being a bride."

Although Cody was once wild for Jordan, the source says cops suspect that he told her he wanted a divorce or annulment. Jordan couldn't face telling family and friends that her husband already wanted out of the week-old marriage – so she came up with a crazy plan to kill him and make it look like an accident, theorize experts. The couple had known each other for less than two years before they tied the knot June 29 in a beautiful and romantic sunset ceremony.

"Jordan was a dreamer who was more excited about the idea of marriage than actually being married," a friend told The ENQUIRER.

"She loved picking the wedding dress and showing off her ring, but on the day of the actual wedding, she sobbed uncontrollably."

Jordan even hired a songwriter to pen a special tune for the wedding, which ironically happened to contain the line: "Everyone wants a safe place to fall, and you're mine."

According to a police affidavit obtained by The ENQUIRER, Jordan – who worked at a day care center – admitted to pushing her hubby off the perilous cliff on July 7.

The affidavit says that the couple got into an argument while hiking on a trail, and Cody grabbed her arm. "She then turned and removed his hand from her arm..." the affidavit continues. "She said she could have just walked away, but due to her anger, she pushed Johnson with both hands in the back and as a result, he fell face-first off the cliff."

After Cody failed to show up at work the next day, his uncle reported him missing. And Jordan apparently tried to cover up what had really happened by texting his boss to see if he'd shown up for work.

She later told authorities that she had received a text message from her husband, saying he was going for a drive with a friend from out of town.

In a final bizarre twist, Jordan reported finding her husband's body July 11 within the boundaries of Glacier National Park.

The bride was busted and, if convicted, faces a mandatory sentence of life behind bars.

The 25-year-old queen of the “Jersey Shore” is thrilled with her avalanche of fan mail requesting dates and even her hand in marriage – but a source says her handsome baby daddy, Jionni LaValle, 26, worries that she’ll be swept off her feet by someone else before he has the chance to say “I do.”

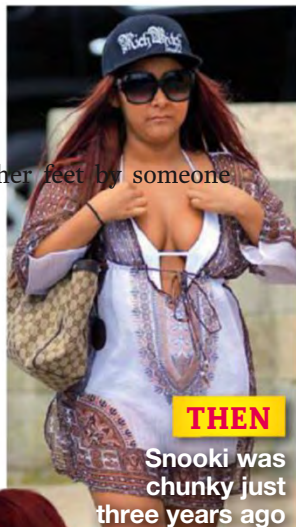

Nicole Polizzi – who goes by the nickname Snooki – and Jionni got engaged in March 2012. And although she and her Italian

CHER HUMILIATES

■ Their ugly backstage showdown at 'The Voice'

■ She calls him a 'jerk' & screams: 'I hate you!'
— SOURCES

BLAKE SHELTON may have handpicked Cher to mentor his team on this season of "The Voice," but it looks like that decision has turned out to be a HUGE mistake!

The conservative country crooner and the liberal "Woman's World" singer are clashing so much that they're barely on speaking terms, say sources.

"Cher wishes she never agreed to be Blake's team mentor," a set insider told The ENQUIRER. "She can't stand him. She's already called him a big jerk and told him how much she hated him."

"While she's a fan of Blake's musical talent, she can't seem to get over his backwoods, country cowboy ways and his constant flirting with the sexier female singers on the show."

Cher recently blew up at the "Hill-billy Bone" singer when he went on a long political rant about how President Obama is "ruining the country."

"Cher calmly tried to warn him to leave his politics at home, especially around the younger contestants," said the source. "But then Blake tried to reason with her and said, 'Listen, sweetheart...'"

And that's when Cher apparently lost it.

"She called him a jerk and said he was 'nothing but a dumb cowboy,'" the source divulged. "Blake retaliated and called her a 'typical Hollywood liberal,' and that's when she really went off, yelling, 'I hate you!'"

BLAKE, 37, WHOSE SINGERS HAVE won the last three seasons of "The Voice," admitted that he and Cher have had their differences.

"I don't know if she likes me that much," the staunch Republican and supporter of former President George W. Bush recently said on "Live with Kelly & Michael."

And 67-year-old Cher, who just released her 26th studio album, "Closer to the Truth," was labeled trouble before she even set foot on the set.

As The ENQUIRER exclusively reported in our Sept. 30 issue, Blake's wife, Miranda Lambert, warned her badboy hubby to stay away from Cher, calling the Oscar winner a "cougar."

Cher, who has a history of dating younger men, laughed when she heard about Miranda's warning. But she blasted back, telling the crew that while she may be a cougar she's "certainly not a cheater."

According to the source, Blake and Cher may not like each other, but they still want their singers to win the "The Voice."

"Cher may respect Blake's ability to mold talent, but that doesn't mean she has to like him as a person," the source added. "They've both been very clear about not wanting to spend any more time together than they have to."

"It's a mutual hate-hate relationship, and it'll be interesting to watch Blake and Cher try to work together. Hopefully they won't tear each other's heads off."

JESSICA SIMPSON's clothing line has hit the $1 BILLION sales mark – and that's got designing twins Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen in a snit!

A source says the former "Full House" stars compete with Jessica behind the seams, and while the pint-size blondes also head a billion-dollar empire, they're bitter over 33-year-old Jessica's mass-market appeal.

"MARY-KATE AND ASHLEY BELIEVE Jessica's fashions are 'low rent,'" a source told The ENQUIRER.

"They think she has little fashion sense and caters to the lowest common denominator just to make a buck."

The Jessica Simpson Collection is sold in more than 650 department stores and includes bags, boots and shoes, fragrance, jewelry and sunglasses.

The Olsen twins think Jessica's fashions are "low rent," says a source

But the Olsens, 27, say there's no comparison between her product line and their fashion empire which includes StyleMint.com, a beauty line called Mary-Kate and Ashley: Real Fashion for real girls, luxury label The Row, Elizabeth and James, and Olsenboye.

The Row's crown jewel, for example, was a $39,000 alligator backpack!

"Mary-Kate and Ashley are regulars at all the fashion shows in New York, Paris, London and Milan, and dress way ahead of the curve," said the source. "To them Jessica is flogging flannel and burlap to banjo pickers. They think her Daisy Duke view of fashion is anything that will bring in a dollar. On the other hand, they have their fingers on the pulse of fashion worldwide and work hard at creating sophisticated designs."

A rep for the Olsens denies that they are feuding with Simpson, adding that they "understand hard work" and are "thrilled for anyone's success."

ELLEN DEGENERES has launched a blistering attack on Jodie Foster after hearing the Oscar winner is now romancing her ex-lover, "The L Word" actress Alexandra Hedison.

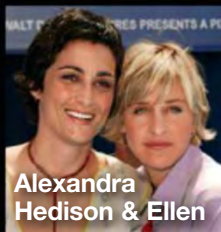

The 55-year-old talk queen's relationship with Alexandra, 44, ended bitterly, and now an insider says she's bad-mouthing Jodie, 50, because she believes the actress has betrayed her.

"Ellen feels Jodie is stabbing her in the back by hooking up with Alex," revealed a close source.

"The lesbian community in Hollywood is very small, and it's well-known that Ellen and Alex had a very contentious breakup after Ellen got tired of Alex and hooked up with Portia de Rossi."

The usually warm-and-fuzzy comedian has been irritable lately, say pals, because she's been butting heads with wife Portia, 40.

KRIS JENNER'S JEALOUS RAGE

STARS
WAR!

— after Bruce GETS COZY with ex

KRIS JENNER is seething with jealousy as hubby Bruce Jenner cozies up to his ex-wife, Linda Thompson!

A source says the hard-charging Kardashian family momager, 57, still loathes the willowy blonde former beauty queen — even though Linda, who dated Elvis Presley, has been divorced from Bruce since 1985.

“Kris hates to even hear Linda’s name mentioned,” an insider told The ENQUIRER.

“IT’S BEEN NEARLY 30 years since she and Bruce were married, but Kris continues to bear a grudge. Friends say that, deep down, Kris has always feared Linda would come after Bruce — or Bruce would cheat with Linda. Those fears date back to the early ’90s, when Bruce married Kris and a lot of people close to them thought she was an ugly duckling compared to Linda.”

Linda and Bruce, both 63, were only wed for four years but have two sons together, Brandon, 32, and Brody, 30. Then, shortly after Kris and the Olympic decathlon champ got hitched, Linda married fabulously wealthy music industry producer and composer David Foster. Ever since, say sources, Kris has wanted to one-up Linda.

“Some of Kris’ pals said quite openly that Linda had gotten the better deal, and that hurt Kris,” noted the insider.

“Kris also hated the fact that Linda, as Elvis’ ex-girlfriend, was more famous than she was.”

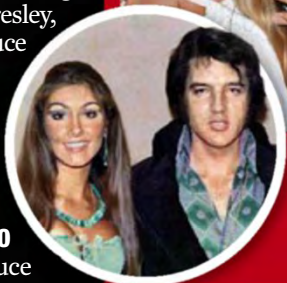

As chronicled on “Keeping Up with the Kardashians,” Bruce has moved out of the family mansion and into a rental in Malibu that’s just a few miles from where now-divorced Linda lives.

“Bruce and Linda have been meeting for afternoon coffee dates and sunset walks on the beach,” revealed a source. “Kris blew up when she found out, and Bruce didn’t deny having feelings for Linda.”

The insider added: “Kris’ worst nightmare is Bruce cheating with Linda. She’s the one person who can drive Kris crazy with jealousy.”

KARDASHIAN MOM ERUPTS as marriage reaches breaking point

“FORGIVE me!” That’s the plea onetime radical Jane Fonda made to frail Nancy Reagan after portraying the beloved former first lady in “The Butler.”

But sources say that, while 92-year-old Nancy approved of Jane’s acting job in the critically acclaimed movie, she will NEVER forgive Fonda for her real-life role as “Hanoi Jane.”

A FIERCE OPPONENT OF THE Vietnam War, the actress traveled to North Vietnam and was photographed sitting on an enemy anti-aircraft gun, seeming to support the communists.

“Nancy will never forgive or forget what Fonda did because she knows that President Reagan would never forgive her,” revealed a source close to the family.

“So many U.S. servicemen died for our country in the war, and Jane is still viewed as a traitor by many vets.”

MEANWHILE, CRITICS HAVE raved about “The Butler,” the fictionalized story of longtime White House butler Eugene Allen, who served under eight presidents.

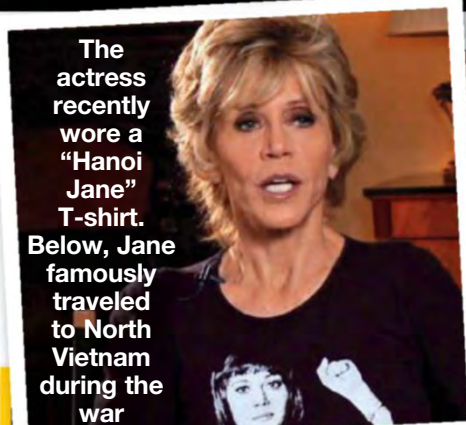

But Fonda, 75, seemed to be back to her old ways when she did a promotional interview for the film and wore a “Hanoi Jane” T-shirt — showing her back in the day with a clenched, raised fist.

“If Nancy had any lingering thoughts about forgiving Jane, those were erased by her wearing that shirt,” said the source.

“It was a slap in the face to Nancy...and to Ronnie!”

Alec & Anderson's GAY FEUD TURNS UGLY

NOTORIOUS hothead Alec Baldwin has openly gay newsman Anderson Cooper all riled up over nasty, homophobic slurs he hurled at an English reporter.

The fireworks began in June when the 55-year-old actor went on a Twitter tirade against a "Daily Mail" reporter who wrote about Baldwin's wife supposedly tweeting in the middle of James Gandolfini's funeral.

BALDWIN BLASTED THE REPORTER, calling him a "queen" and a "bitch." And that threw Anderson into a fury!

Cooper tweeted, asking: "Why does Alec Baldwin get a pass when he uses gay slurs? If a conservative talked of beating up a 'queen,' they would be vilified." A source close to the 46-year-old CNN anchorman added: "Anderson knows that Alec is a pro-gay rights liberal and made those remarks in anger, but that doesn't excuse him."

Baldwin denied that the comments were directed toward the reporter's sexuality, but, upset at Anderson's comments, the "30 Rock" star blasted him on Howard Stern's July 23 radio show. He accused the newsman – who came out of the closet just last year – of trying to "reinforce his credibility in the gay community."

And in a stinging slap, he added: "You couldn't get him out of the closet for 10 years with a canister of tear gas."

Now he's acting like a "sheriff," bristled Baldwin. "Writing everybody a ticket."

IN one of Hollywood's longest-running feuds, Kathie Lee Gifford despises Kelly Ripa over an ugly incident that erupted between the former and current "Live" hosts more than a decade ago.

The two daytime divas publicly ignore each other, but a source says say that Kathie Lee has sent out an explosive message to her rival: "I'm a bigger star than you – show me some respect!"

Incredibly, Kathie Lee, 60, is still fuming over Kelly, 43, replacing her as co-host of "Live," a source says.

"IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE, but almost every day Kathie Lee has something to say about Kelly," revealed a TV insider. "She's like a dog with a bone, she just can't let it go."

Almost every day Kathie Lee has something to say about Kelly”

Kathie Lee left "Live" in 2000, and Kelly filled her spot alongside co-host Regis Philbin.

But all hell broke loose after Kelly discovered that Kathie Lee had secretly begun plotting with Regis to get her old job back and give Kelly the boot, The ENQUIRER reported in 2003.

Kelly fumed: "Tell her to get a WHOOP! GOLDBERG remains heartbroken over Ted Danson – and she blames it on Mary Steenburgen, say sources.

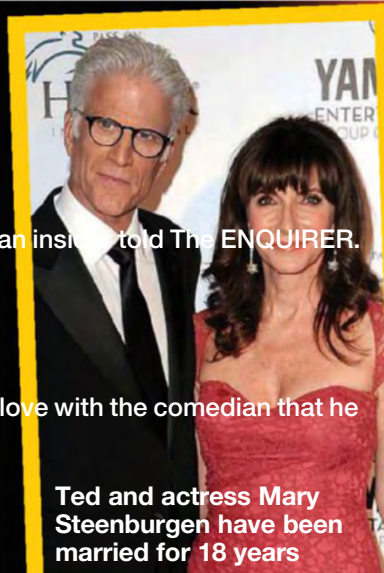

"Whoopi hates Mary and the reason is simple – she married Ted Danson and Whoopi didn't," an insider told The ENQUIRER.

Ted, 65, dated 57-year-old Whoopi for the year in the lead of their movie "Made in America."

When they began their affair, the "Cheers" star was married to his wife Casey, but Ted was so in love with the comedian that he left his family home and moved into a hotel with her.

THEY MADE PLANS TO WED AS soon as he could get a divorce, but under pressure from his parents, he dumped Whoopi, say sources, shattering her heart.

Shortly after, the actor began dating Mary. But as The ENQUIRER reported, that didn't life instead of trying to wreck mine.”

The drama unfolded as Kelly was attempting to negotiate a new contract before going on maternity leave for the birth of her third child.

The show’s ratings were sliding, and Kathie Lee was desperate to get back on the air because her post-“Live” career was faltering.

She was offered a chance to guest on “The View” and loved it, and that’s when she decided to try to return to “Live.”

She contacted Regis to plot her return, say sources. But Kelly got wind of her idea to “temporarily” fill in and exploded.

“It’s not going to happen!” she declared.

Confided a close source: “Kelly worried that if Kathie Lee did return and got huge ratings it would undermine her contract negotiations.

“And when Kelly landed a contract extension, she and the producers acted quickly to have Kathie Lee banned forever.”

Kathie Lee was irate and is seething to this day. But the talented mom of two bounced back in 2008, becoming a popular co-host of the “Today” show’s final hour.

KATHIE LEE SLAMS KELLY!

‘Today’ show blonde’s SHOCKING SMACKDOWN of rival

COMEDY queen Roseanne Barr launched a blistering attack against Ashton Kutcher for stealing her material.

On a recent episode of “Two and a Half Men,” Ashton uttered the line: “You’re wet where you’re supposed to be dry,” which is one of Roseanne’s old jokes. In a series of tweets, some of which have been removed, the plus-size comedian blasted Ashton via Twitter, calling him “an immoral thief of intellectual property.” But she leveled an even more venomous attack on the show’s creator Chuck Lorre, a longtime nemesis.

“CHUCK LORRE IS A THIEF! STEALING MY JOKES FOR HIS S TWO AND A HALF MORON,” she fumed.

BARR HAD LAUNCHED LORRE’S TV career in the 1990s by hiring him as a writer on her hit sitcom “Roseanne” before she and then-hubby Tom Arnold fired him. “I wish I’d never hired Chuck Lorre... he went from being a drunken bum to an overbearing arrogant thief,” she blasted.

Roseanne, now 60 and living with her writer/musician beau Johnny Argent on a Hawaiian macadamia nut plantation, previously defended Charlie Sheen when Lorre famously fired him from “Men.” Back then, she slighted Lorre for his drinking and called his show “putrid.”

“Roseanne is the queen of Hollywood feuding,” an industry insider told The ENQUIRER. “She’s very good at it – and seems to enjoy it.”

HILLARY CLINTON has blasted Angelina Jolie as a “fake” and a “homewrecker,” according to an insider who predicts that the simmering tension between the two powerhouse women will soon explode!

The former first lady is said to have bared her claws at the Hollywood femme fatale after learning that Angelina wanted to seduce her husband, former president Bill Clinton. And the friction has grown worse in recent years as the two became prominent in international politics – Angelina as a United Nations goodwill ambassador and Hillary as President Obama’s secretary of state.

“Not even a world’s stage is big enough for these two women,” declared a source. “Hillary has gotten more and more riled up as she saw Angelina continually trying to steal her thunder.”

“THE LAST STRAW CAME WHEN Hillary heard that Angelina was going to get involved with the 2016 (presidential) election. While she hasn’t officially announced her run for the White House, it’s pretty clear Hillary sees herself as the leading Democratic candidate, and she doesn’t want Angie running off her mouth.”

Last April, when both of them were at the Women in the World summit in New York, an insider says Angelina got word to Hillary that she wanted to meet her privately “to discuss important matters” in an empty room at the Lincoln Center.

Added the source: “Hillary was fit to be tied. ‘Why on earth would I want to see HER!’ she raged. Hillary made it clear Angelina was not her favorite person and that if they met she would probably end up telling her, ‘You’re a fake!’”

“Angie was mystified by Hillary’s cold snub.”

HILLARY FURY OVER ‘FAKE’ ANGIE!

Angie visits Tanzania in her capacity as a U.N. goodwill ambassador back years. Sources say she believes her skirt-chasing husband became infatuated with the now 38-year-old “Salt” actress in 2007 after Angelina attended an annual meeting for his foundation. And journalist Ian Halperin wrote in his book, “Brangelina: The Untold Story of Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie,” that the sexpot had stated she wanted to seduce

“Hillary believes Angelina encouraged Bill’s attention and that’s something she will never forget. When it comes to bearing a grudge, Hillary has a long memory. She’s also described Angie to some of her closest aides as a ‘homewrecker’ for the way she stole Brad from Jennifer Aniston. “To Hillary, working in politics is a lot more complex than being a part-time U.N. ambassador in between acting gigs and she firmly believes that Angie should stick to making movies.”

The situation almost came to a head in 2009, when Angelina and Hillary were scheduled to meet at the White House for World Refugee Day. But Hillary suffered a mysterious fall and broke her elbow, forcing her to cancel the meeting. That fall was “highly suspicious,” a source told author Halperin at the time.

“So far, Hillary and Angelina’s bitter feelings have stayed below the public radar,” the source noted. “But it’s only a matter of time before the gloves come off.”

GRANNY TAKES NO PRISONERS!

MARGE WOLF is 96 years old and just five feet tall, but she has the heart of a lion. When a would-be robber wearing a mask flashed a knife and demanded that she open the cash register at the store where she worked, the gutsy great-grandma refused – and told the creep to scam!

“He ordered me time after time to open the register,” said Marge, who’s operated her family’s mom-and-pop shop, Wolf’s Grocery, in Marshfield, Wis., for 54 years.

“HE EVEN LAID HIS POCKET KNIFE on my counter, but I refused point-blank by anybody!”

Marge, who has three children, six grandchildren and 12 great-grandkids, is “an institution in this town,” said Marshfield Police Dept. Lt. Darren Larson.

“We don’t recommend that people put up the level of resistance that Marge did. We’re just ecstatic that she’s OK.”

The feisty senior citizen’s stand-your-ground moment unfolded on July 15.

“The guy came in wearing a silver

“He said, ‘Open up your cash register.’ I said, ‘I’m not opening that cash register for nobody, not you either. I’ll give you all the Tootsie Rolls you want.’

That’s when the thug laid his pocket knife on the counter. Marge said she looked him in the eye and told him again that she wasn’t opening the register.

“He looked around like he didn’t know what to do,” she said.

“Then he spotted my security camera. I pointed to my medical alert device dangling from my neck and said, ‘I’ll press this button and I’ll have someone here in two seconds. Now get the hell out of my store!’”

Sure enough, the creep high-tailed it out the door.

At first, Marge didn’t plan to even call police. But she was worried that the would-be robber, who fled empty-handed, might try to hold up

It's back to school for actress Justine Bateman of "Family Ties" fame!

The 47-year-old mother of two is studying computer science at UCLA and hopes to recast herself as a tech-savvy Hollywood player, an insider says.

"Justine wasn't getting a ton of offers or landing auditions, so she figured it was time to map out a Plan B," said a source.

"SHE'S ALWAYS REGRETTED NOT getting a college degree. So she chose to focus on computer, technology and engineering because she wants to reinvent herself as a behind-the-scenes Hollywood executive.

"Her goal is to help movie and entertainment studios implement tech advances in their business plans."

Justine – who played airhead Mallory Keaton opposite her conservative TV brother Michael J. Fox on the classic '80s sitcom – also maintains an Internet blog called College Life, about life as a middle-aged college student.

The actress, sister of "Arrested Development" star Jason Bateman, did a summer internship at computer

The actress has an Internet blog called College Life security software giant Symantec and founded a consulting business called Section 5.

She recently told a reporter that she wants to learn as much as possible "about computers, about the network, the systems, the language – all of it.

"It seems to me so much technology could be applied to entertainment. Augmented reality, and even just the iPad touch-screen technology, it still is extremely underused by entertainment."

The source added: "Justine is incredibly grateful for her acting success, but now she's challenging herself and broadening her horizons.

"She's hoping to inspire actresses of a certain age with her midlife career switch."

DID COCAINE GIVE RONSTADT PARKINSON'S?

SINGER Linda Ronstadt's cocaine use during the 1970s may well have caused the Parkinson's disease that's taken away her ability to sing!

A medical expert tells The ENQUIRER that heavy use of the drug dramatically increases the risk of developing the disease – and 67-year-old Linda has admitted that she once snorted cocaine regularly.

A STUDY CONDUCTED BY Dr. Deborah Mash, a neuroscientist at the University of Miami who has not treated Ronstadt, revealed that the brain tissue of cocaine addicts contained abnormal amounts of a protein that is "a classic hallmark of Parkinson's."

Dr. Mash told The ENQUIRER: "We also found that cocaine abuse increased dopamine-stimulated neurons. Dopamine overload damages the cells much like Parkinson's disease. That's why more and more younger people are developing Parkinson's disease and Parkinson's-like symptoms."

Linda – an 11-time Grammy winner famous for the rock ballads "You're No Good" and "When Will I Be Loved" – has had a bad time twice due to her heavy cocaine use, and that she'd tried heroin, marijuana and methedrine (speed).

Meanwhile, Linda said that she probably suffered from Parkinson's unknowingly for more than eight years, and attributed her symptoms to a tick-borne disease.

"I was struggling to sing for so many years," she confessed.

"I knew there was something dramatically, systematically wrong." As The ENQUIRER has reported, Linda – who last sang publicly in 2009 – recently reached out to fellow Parkinson's sufferer Michael J. Fox for advice.

But a pal said: "If Linda could go back in time, she'd never have started doing drugs. Now, it may be too late."

Producers dropped "in Jesus' name" from the family's mealtime grace

“Why make it look like we're using profanity”

HOW 'DUCK DYNASTY' FOOLED AMERICA!

Hit show is FAKE, admits Phil

IN a fit of righteous rage, “Duck Dynasty” clan leader Phil Robertson blasted producers of the hit A&E reality show for faking parts of it to make the devoutly religious redneck clan appear to be more profane than they really are!

He angrily claims that execs not only put together story lines but also conspired to make the God-fearing family seem less religious by inserting “fake bleeps” so it looked as if they were cursing.

THAT'S DEEPLY OFFENSIVE TO THE colorful Louisiana family. They made a fortune in the duck-call business and are struggling to be portrayed just as they are – practicing Christians with strong family values who are grateful for their good fortune.

Phil, the 67-year-old patriarch who preaches at the local church and has baptized more than 300 people, reached the boiling point last year and publicly slammed producers “as people with no moral compass.”

“It's spiritual warfare,” he declared.

“This is Hollywood hitting the king-don't-f--- God,” a lot of dysfunction and a lot of four-letter words.

Phil knows exactly how much is at stake as the show's astonishing success rests on the family's credibility.

“Duck Dynasty” has smashed multiple ratings records. Its fourth season premiere on Aug. 14 attracted a staggering 11.8 million viewers, becoming the most-watched non-fiction cable telecast in the history of television.

But problems started when the TV crew first arrived in Louisiana, revealed Phil's son Jase, 44.

“There's a blueprint for reality shows,” he said. “They like a lot of

“We said, ‘Look, you're not going to find much of that here.’”

For Phil, the first sign of trouble came when he noticed producers trying to meddle with the family image by inserting “bleeps” to make it appear that they were cursing.

“I said, ‘If we're not using profanity, why make it look like we're using profanity?’” recalled Phil. So they quit doing that.”

Jase revealed that sometimes producers also put together story lines.

“The show is highlights of our lives,” he explained. “When you edit things into 22 minutes, some of it may seem a bit staged. It is about our faith, family, facial hair and meant to be fun.”

Phil's wife, Miss Kay, loves to have her tightknit family over for home-cooked dinners – but producers infuriated Phil when they dropped “in Jesus' name” from their mealtime grace.

“They would just have me saying, ‘Thank you Lord for the food. Thank you for loving us, amen,’” grouched Phil. “I said, ‘Why would you cut out Jesus' name?’ and they said, ‘Well, those editors are probably doing that – they don't want to offend any of the Muslims or anything!’”

“Now every once in a while, they're leaving (the name) in there.”

If producers don't back off, sources say it could lead to a holy war over the show.

“Faith is the number one thing in our lives,” said Phil's 41-year-old son Willie. “So everything revolves around it – our marriages, our families and our business.”

Everything revolves around the family's faith, their marriages and their business

Saline vs. steroid shots for BACK PAIN

★ An injection of saline solution might be as effective in relieving lower back pain as an epidural steroid injection.

Johns Hopkins researchers reviewed more than 40 studies and found it might not be the steroids in spinal shots that provide pain relief but rather the introduction of any of a number of fluids to the space around the spinal cord.

That's good news because steroids can raise blood sugar in diabetics, slow wound healing and accelerate bone disease in older women.

More research is needed to support this theory.

★ If you think eating foods rich in omega-3 fatty acids benefit your mind, think again.

In a study of more than 2,000 older women, University of Iowa scientists found no differences between those with high and low blood levels of omega-3 when it came to memory or thinking skills.

"However, we do not recommend that people change their diet based on these results," says researcher Eric Ammann. "We know that fish and nuts can be healthy alternatives to red meat and full-fat dairy products, which are high in saturated fats."

OMEGA-3 FATTY ACIDS ARE NOT BRAIN FOOD

New device for ENLARGED PROSTATE

★ The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved a permanent implant to relieve low or blocked urine flow.

The UroLift system helps ease symptoms in men 50 and older with enlarged prostate, also known as benign prostatic hyperplasia, say experts.

Alternative treatments involve drug therapies or invasive surgery.

"The UroLift provides a less invasive alternative," says Abir B. Foreman, director of the FDA's Center for Devices and Radiological Health. "This device also may offer relief to men who cannot tolerate available drug therapies."

★ A new study suggests that corticosteroid inhalers can double the risk of pneumonia in older adults.

Over a five-year period, researchers evaluated more than 6,200 seniors who had recovered from one bout of pneumonia but were still at high risk for a repeat infection.

They found that continued use of inhaled corticosteroids nearly doubled

BREATHE EASY — AVOID PNEUMONIA

the risk of recurring pneumonia compared to those who didn't use the drugs. University of Alberta lead researcher Dean Eurich suggests that users of the inhaler "continue on your medications as your health professional has told you to use them. If you're feeling unwell, if you are coughing or wheezing more, are more short of breath than usual, have chest pain when breathing deeply or coughing, feel fatigued, or develop a fever, see a physician sooner rather than later."

LOSE STUBBORN BELLY FAT

★ For a lot of people, not even exercise and diet can eliminate an ugly belly bulge — but the popular "feel good" pill Relacore may be the answer!

Turns out that dieting can cause added stress to your life, and stress triggers the release of a hormone that increases belly fat. Relacore is already "America's #1 Selling 'Belly Fat' Pill," according to the manufacturers — so if you're ready to go on a diet or are already losing weight but having a hard time getting rid of that stubborn belly fat, you may want to try Relacore. It's available at Walmart and Relacore.com.

CRYPTOGRAM QUOTES

FAMOUS QUOTES FROM YOUR FAVORITE PEOPLE

Cryptograms are coded messages. To solve the Cryptogram, each coded letter must be replaced by the answer letter in the box overhead. When you solve the code for a letter, write the answer letter in the box everywhere the coded letter appears. Look for common words and letter patterns to break the code. Words like AND, I, THE and A are found frequently. Common word endings are ING, S and E.

Cast of "Pretty Little Liars"

Pretty Little Liars (Special Halloween Episode)

Tuesday, Oct. 22, 8 p.m. ET, ABC Family
ABC Family's 13 Nights of Halloween delivers big-time tonight with this revealing "Liars" holiday episode followed by a spine-tingling new spinoff series. After finding a clue in "A's" new lair that suggests Ali may still be alive, Aria, Emily, Hanna and Spencer crash the Ravenswood Founders Day Celebration at the cemetery. The ladies hope to find Ali. But the clue might have been a plant, and the liars may be leading "A" straight to Ali! Meanwhile, Caleb heads to Ravenswood to help the girls and meets kindred spirit Miranda. Lucy Hale, Trojan Bellisario, Ashley Benson and Shay Mitchell star.

Ravenswood (New Show!)

Tuesday, Oct. 22, 9 p.m. ET, ABC Family

Prepare for a whole new town full of secrets and mysteriously linked teens as this "Pretty Little Liars" spinoff spins a weird tale about the strange town of Ravenswood. After coming to Ravenswood to help his friends in the "PLL" Halloween episode, Caleb (Tyler Blackburn) decides to remain there to help his new pal Miranda (Nicole Gale Anderson). Shaken up by what they saw at the Founders Day party and some supernatural occurrences, the pair decide to investigate the town. But they have no idea that their fates are connected to three other teen residents, and none of them know what Ravenswood has in store for them. Steven Cabral also stars.

Dracula (New Show!)

Friday, Oct. 25, 10 p.m. ET, NBC

Dark and handsome Jonathan Rhys Meyers turns heads and bites more than a few necks in this epic reimagining of Bram Stoker's immortal tale. In this version, Count Dracula (Meyers) and vampire killer Abraham Van Helsing (Thomas Kretschmann) form a tenuous alliance to bring down the Order of the Dragon, the secret society that controls the British aristocracy and the business economy in late 19th century London. The Order killed both Van Helsing's and Dracula's wives and now the unlikely duo are out for some blue blood. Loaded with clever twists, action, horror and lust, this new take on the king of vampires should delight even the most ardent of Dracula devotees.

Trust Me, I'm a Game Show Host (New Show!)

Tuesday, Oct. 22, 10:30 p.m. ET, TBS

True or false: "Trust Me, I'm a Game Show Host" is hilariously risqué and smartly surprising and just plain fun. TRUE! Dueling comedians D.L. Hughley and Michael Ian Black each present one contestant with a strange fact, such as, "Thomas Edison invented bubble gum." Only one of the two "facts" is true and it's up to tonight's contestant, adorable anthropologist Ambree Klemm, to decide which co-host to trust. The more right choices she makes, the more money she rakes in. But it's not that simple. Hughley and Black are such believable and charismatic liars, you could swear they're both right. They don't make it easy. But they do make it laugh-out-loud funny.

Host Regis and the panel on "Crowd Goes Wild"

WITH his new cable sports talk show "Crowd Goes Wild" tanking, a devastated Regis Philbin fears that he'll be remembered as a showbiz flop, pals say.

"Regis desperately wanted another hit, but the ratings for his new show are in the toilet," an industry insider told THE ENQUIRER.

"And the stress is taking a terrible toll. The poor guy looks awful. Regis is miserable and cranky on the set and he's lost the twinkle in his eye."

THE 82-YEAR-OLD TV VETERAN'S wife Joy is also very worried about him, added the source.

"Crowd Goes Wild" debuted in late August on Fox Sports 1. Sources say that sports nut Regis — who left the syndicated daytime talk show "Live!" in 2011 after a successful 23-year run — felt it would put him back on top.

"Regis was determined to hit the showbiz heights one more time," said the insider. "He also wanted to distinguish himself from what he feels are a pack of wet-bellies and the-ears sports broadcasters. But 'Crowd Goes Wild' sucks. As they say in Hollywood, it doesn't have legs."

Now Regis has apparently latched onto the idea that the ratings will turn around.

"But everyone close to him knows that's probably not going to happen," said the insider. "The question is, how do you get through to a legend that it's time to step down?"

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

SECRET SON ► ROCKS SINATRA FAMILY

Frank Jr. fears half brother COULD RUIN HIS CAREER

Ronan Farrow bears a noticeable resemblance to Frank Sinatra (above). Frank Jr., inset at left, has kept his dad's music alive

FRANK SINATRA's family has been rocked by Mia Farrow's claim that her son Ronan may have been fathered by the music legend.

And no one in the clan is more upset than 69-year-old Frank Sinatra Jr., who's made a career out of singing his old man's songs and fears that young, good-looking Ronan could take his place.

"Frank Jr. is extremely angry at Mia for revealing the news that he has a half brother," said a source. "He doesn't want to believe it, but he worries it

"Frank makes his living being his father onstage, singing his songs. He doesn't want a younger man trying to claim his turf."

Mia, 68, was married to Ol' Blue Eyes for 23 months from 1966 to 1968 but claimed in a recent interview that they "never really split up." When Ronan was born in 1987 (originally named Satchel), Mia was involved with Woody Allen, who was assumed to be the baby's father. But when asked in the interview if her son could have been fathered by Frank, Mia replied: "Possibly." Frank would have been 72 when Ronan was born.

The news threw the Sinatra family into chaos. Clashing with her relatives, Nancy Sinatra apparently accepted Ronan into the fold with open arms. But the others were outraged, with Frank Sr.'s widow, Barbara, blasting the story as "phony."

Blue-eyed Ronan, 25, bears a striking resemblance to Frank Sr. but has shown little interest in an entertainment career. A brilliant student, he graduated from Yale Law School at age 21 and is a human rights activist attorney who's served as a special adviser in the Obama administration. Now, he's in talks to host a weekend talk show on MSNBC.

But Frank Jr. doesn't trust Mia's motives.

"He thinks Mia's comments are an outrageous attempt to get publicity for her son," said the source. "Frank Jr. believes Ronan may be launching an entertainment career."

"FOR YEARS, FRANK JR. HAS BEEN THE ONLY ONE to keep his dad's music alive, and he has made a very good living doing it. Now he's afraid that Ronan will be stepping up to the microphone as another singing son of Frank Sinatra and put his career on the skids."

Meanwhile, Allen's representatives called Mia's interview "fictitious and extravagantly absurd." But Ronan has made light of the situation, poking fun at Sinatra's reputation as a skirt-chaser by posting on Twitter: "Listen, we're all 'possibly' Frank Sinatra's son!"

Author Anthony Summers, who spent five years researching the "My Way" singer's life for his book "Sinatra: The Life," says it's true that Mia and Sinatra shared "a lasting attachment and loyalty to each other."

As to Mia's paternity claims, Summers added: "I wouldn't put it past Frank. It's very possible."

Former art teacher Ray Villafane, 43, has carved out a niche creating gruesome gourds

A Franken-pumpkin boasts a stitched-on top

PUMPKIN PICASSOS

THESE guys are out of their gourds – with creativity! With a surgeon's skill and the eye of a horror movie master, Ray Villafane and Andy Bergholtz sculpt pumpkins into terrifying works of art. They've produced ghoulishly intricate creations for everyone from Marvel to Warner Bros. and even supermodel Heidi Klum's annual Halloween party. Villafane started carving pumpkins 13 years ago when he was a K-12 art teacher. Amazingly, he says that from an artistic point of view, nothing beats a pumpkin. "Within a couple hours, I can create a larger-than-life character," he said. Besides that, nearly everyone has carved a jack-o'-lantern, so they can relate to the medium. His advice for choosing a pumpkin to carve? "Find one that's heavy for its size," he said. That's a good indication it will have a thick rind for carvings with depth.
